CITY OFFICERS RAP "VICE COMMISSION" FOR REPORTS MADE

City Commissioners Take Issue With State Vice Board on Number of Immoral Places Alleged Here.

Jansville city officials were induced at the report given by the state vice board on Saturday, when the commission on vice commissioners in their annual report that the number of immoral places in the city numbered fourteen in quality. The attitude of Mayor James A. Palmer and Chief of Police Champion was that a gross injustice had been done in giving the city a black eye on reports that dated back even to ten or fifteen years ago.
The vice board, composed of any other member of the state vice commission named some fourteen or fifteen of the city's immoral places in the city of Jansville now, and proved their charges by showing Police Commissioner (this morning).
The substance of their report was made nearly a year ago and dealt with immoral places in the city. The vice board, one of the main items in their report was an event that happened here eighteen years ago, and was exaggerated far above the actual facts. The vice board board was before my administration as chief of police and consequently I do not know of what immoral places were, but I hold no doubt that there is no part of it could be found fairly when the true facts were known.
Mayor Palmer expressed an opinion that the vice board was not entitled to request the vice commission to send a copy of their findings to this city and let the public judge for themselves how much truth the report contained. Chief of Police Champion said that several of the immoral places were not named in the report, and that the vice board board was not entitled to request the vice commission to send a copy of their findings to this city and let the public judge for themselves how much truth the report contained. Chief of Police Champion said that several of the
the report contained.

COX CASE DECISION IS EXPECTED SOON

Appeal of Local Man to Supreme Court, Which Meets Tomorrow, Will Be Heard.

Decision of the Wisconsin supreme court in the case of Charles H. Cox of this city against the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway is expected tomorrow, when the court meets to pass on a long list of appealed cases.
While awaiting an engine out in the local railroad yards on Saturday, 1914, Cox, a Fremont, was injured by a blow-out box located near the track. Cox went down into the yard to climb into the engine cab. The case was tried in the Milwaukee county court and the jury awarded Cox a special verdict of $1,000, but the court refused the plaintiff's judgment, holding that under the evidence in this case, assumption of risk was a question of fact, independent of contributory negligence and consequently dismissed the complaint. Cox appealed.

REPORTS SHOW THAT SUPPLIES ARE NEEDED

Starving Belgians Being Fed by American Grains Given by Donations of People.

In the following dispatch will be seen the necessity for continuing the relief of funds for the starving Belgians. The relief may be found at the four banks at the Jansville office and Baker's drug store. That the money is needed to buy food for the people who are bereft of everything. is shown in the following dispatch:
"London, Dec. 6 (via London) — "For the last fortnight we have been living on American food and it saved us from starvation." was the statement made today by a Belgian committee distributing American relief shipments in Liege province.
"All our grain was exhausted," he continued, "because all of it was requisitioned for the use of the German army. With the exception of a small supply of meat and a meager quantity of food crops we had nothing. However, from American and his arrival was the sole topic of conversation throughout the province. When the people became aware that food from America was being sent to Liege they were almost frantic with joy." Hate Off to Americans.
"Every American seen in Liege was hated as a benefactor. Whenever an American came to the city, the people actually carried an American flag in the streets and the people take off their hats."

The Belgian citizen stated that the relief committee had established a system of virtual communism.
"Seventeen thousand tons of wheat have been received in Liege, the committee has distributed 35,000 pounds of food, and the people are now being supplied with nearly a half pound each daily. It is not a great quantity, but it is saving us from starvation. Rich and poor alike receive the same amount."

"Our supply of bread is running out already. We are mixing a considerable percentage of potato flour with the wheat flour today and we can last another three or four days by which time we are praying more American wheat will arrive."

We need 200 tons of wheat daily.
We are being supplied today and are able to distribute in less than a quart of soup and until now about a pound of potatoes daily, with a tiny quantity of meat, coffee and sugar.

In offering our heartfelt thanks to the American people we pray that they will continue to continue, for without them we should have starved and without them we must starve."

I hereby request every farmer in the town of Jansville to post notice on every house prohibiting all hunters, peddlers, agents or any other person who might savor the foot and mouth disease from entering such premises.

ENDED HIS LIFE IN ABSENCE OF BRIDE

Michael Smith Found Dead in His Apartment With Gas Jets Turned On.

Michael Smith, 28 years of age, was found dead from asphyxiation at his home on South High street shortly after nine o'clock Sunday morning by Patrolmen Harry Smith and William Gove. The officers were called to the place by Miss Mary Crook, who lives in the rooms above the Smith home.

Smith was found lying on the bed of his room, the door of which was closed but not locked. The two gas jets were open but the man's body was still warm. The city lungmaster was rushed to the place and Dr.
G. O. W. and Dr. H. McGuffee were called. The physicians and Chief Klein worked over the body for nearly an hour, but their efforts at resuscitation were of no avail.

While the officers were still working on the body the young man's wife, a bride of three months, who went to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Byrne, near Layden, on Saturday afternoon, returned home, after attending church with members of her family. She was grief stricken over her husband's tragic death and could give no reason for his action except that he had complained of not feeling well.

Smith had been regularly employed at the Hanson furniture factory and was a man of sober habits. His wife claims that he had not been subject to fits of despondency and she is unable to account for his motives.

Smith came to Jansville several years ago for training, where he has a mother and three brothers, who have been notified of his death. He has one brother, James Smith, a driver for the Wells-Pargo Express Company, who resides in this city.

Funeral services will be held at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning at St.
Mary's church, and interment will be made in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

in the army.

health until about eight months ago, when she began to fail. In September she underwent an operation which, however, could not give the result hoped for. Death came to her as result of many pains.

BIG PREMIUM LIST FOR POULTRY SHOW

Poultry Association Has Twenty-five Silver Cups for Prize Winning Birds.

Present arrangements are indicative for an excellent chicken exhibit at the annual show of the Southern Wisconsin Poultry Association, to be held Jan. 12 to 16.
A long list of special premiums, one hundred and fifty in number to date, and awarded by members of the board of directors to be the best obtained thus far in the history of the association, have been secured. Aside from this, it is announced that at least twenty-five silver cups will be awarded in the divers classes.

Additional requests for information on the 1915 show continue to be received. Growers of fancy birds in this vicinity are taking considerable interest in the show and expectations are that the coming exhibit will eclipse all other previous bird gatherings of the local association.

The principal premium list will be ready for distribution some time during next week.

LAND DEAL TANGLE BEING TRIED TODAY

Case of George H. Amos Against Mat F. Lathers of Beloit, Now Before Circuit Court.

Testimony was taken this afternoon in the case of George H. Amos and others against Mat F. Lathers of Be-loft before Judge Grimm in circuit court, this being the first of the court cases on the October calendar to be brought up for trial. The action involves a tangle over a land deal in which the plaintiff claims that he was not allowed for his equity in a farm formerly owned by him in Winnebago county, Ill., as the result of a trade which was perfected through Lathers.

The defendant takes the position that the plaintiff gave over the deed to him in consequence of certain indebtedness on the land which the plaintiff was unable to clear. The case promises to be bitterly contested and will take a day or more to try.
Legal counsel of Jansville, Amos and Edgar of Beloit have the case for Amos, while Jeffers, Monat, Oestreich and Avery represent Lathers.

DISCHARGE STUDENTS FROM SCHOOL ROOM

Eau Claire Youths Refuse to Sign Statement and Are "Canned" Until They Conform
With Orders.

Eau Claire, Dec. 7.—There was a great deal of excitement at high school, when many of the boy students who had been ordered by the school board to sign a statement applying to Principal F. M. Mac for having demanded of him a public apology for remarks made to Florence Bloom, when they fled into school this morning. They had not signed the statement of the apology, but followed out a plan agreed upon last night when they decided to attend school and see what action would be taken against them. They soon found out that they were not to be candled until such time as they saw fit to sign such statement.

The students made protest that they were the victims of injustice, but they desisted without causing any disturbance. The presence of policemen may have had something to do with the decision to go so peacefully as they did.

One hundred and fifty boy and girl students of the Eau Claire high school this afternoon went on a strike, protesting the action of the school board of this city in ordering under pain of expulsion twenty-three boy students to sign a statement apologizing to Jack Jack for making the demand previously that Supr. Jack apologize to them for having told a girl student, aged fifteen, to go home and comb her hair and wear a high collar. The students routed the principal streets of the city, but remained quiet and caused no disturbance.

As Iaving the studio, he paused to think for a moment when conditions are so different. Then, he added, as though in a dream, "And I'll af-firmly say that you won't run up on me, I'm afraid."

When the matter with Wilfred

South demanded Samson, a shiver ran down his spine.

"What at all," replied Farlish, and a shiver ran down his spine.

"Personally, I am not at all, I simply don't want to see him. I don't possibly, the miserable tone of the voice told the girl more than the words.

"You are having a season with the blue devils," she announced. "You've been cooped up too much. This wind ought to bring the ducks, and—"

"I'm leaving tonight," Samson told her.

"It would have been very nice of you to have run up to say good-by," she reproved. "But I'll forgive you, if you call me up by long distance.

You will get there early in the morning. Tomorrow, I'm going to Philadelphia over night. The next night, I shall be at the theater. Call me up after the theater, and tell me how you like it."

It was the same old frankness and friendliness of voice, and the same old note like the music of a reed instrument. Samson felt so comforted and reassured that he laughed through the telephone.

"I've been keeping away from you," he volunteered, "because I've had a lapse into savagery, and haven't been fit to talk to you. When I get back, I'm coming up to explain. And, in the meantime, I'll telephone."

On the train Samson was surprised to discover that, after all, he had Mr.

William Farlish for a traveling companion. That gentleman explained that he had found an opportunity to play truant from business for a day or two, and wished to see Samson comfortably ensconced and introduced.

The first day Farlish and Samson had the place to themselves, but the next morning would bring others.

The next day, while the mountaineer was out on the flats, the party of men at the club had been swelled to a total of six, for in pursuance of the carefully arranged plans of Mr.

Farlish, Mr. Bradburn had succeeded in inducing Wilfred Horton to run down for a day or two of the sport he loved. When Horton arrived that afternoon, he found his usually even temper ruffled by bits of maliciously broached gossip, until his resentment against Samson South had been fanned into danger heat. He did not know that South also was at the club, and he did not that afternoon go out to the blinds, but so far departed from his usual custom as to permit himself to sit for several hours in the club grill.

And yet, as is often the case in carefully designed affairs, the one element that made most powerfully for the success of Farlish's scheme was pure accident. The carefully arranged meeting with "steady" hostility into Sam-son's eyes—"I prefer to tell you, I have rather generally expressed the belief that you are a damned savage, unfit for decent society."

Samson's face grew rigid and a trifle pale. His mouth set itself in a straight line, but, as Wilfred Horton came to his feet with the last words, the mountaineer remained seated.

"And," went on the New Yorker, flushing with suddenly augmenting passion, "what I said I still believe to be true and repeat in your presence.

At another time and place, I shall be even more explicit. I shall ask you to explain—certain things."

"Mr. Horton," suggested Samson in an ominously quiet voice, "I reckon you're a little drunk. If I were you,

I'd sit down."

Wilfred's face went from red to white, and his shoulders stiffened. He leaned forward, and for the instant no one moved. The tick of the clock was plainly audible.

"South," he said, his breath coming in labored excitement, "defend yourself!"

Samson still sat motionless.

"Against what?" he inquired.

"Against that!" Horton struck the mountain man across the face with his open hand. Instantly, there was a commotion of scraping chairs and shuffling feet, mingled with a chorus of inarticulate protest. Samson had been, and, for a second, his face had become a thing of unpeopled passion. His hand instinctively swept toward his pocket—and stopped halfway. He stood by his overturned chair, gazing into the eyes of his assaultant, with an effort at self-mastery which gave his chest and arms the appearance of a man writhing and stiffening under electrocution. Then, he forced both hands to his back and gripped them there. For a moment, the tableau was held, then the man from the mountains began speaking, slowly and in a tone of dead-level monotony. Each syllable was porten-tously distinct and clear clipped.

Your feet would ache if you walked from house to house if you had no shoes. In looking for the places where there are shoes for rent, a few minutes study of the Gazette would

The advanced maiden was out rowing with a possible suitor and had taken her little sister along, who was exhibiting much fear at the waves.

Have of Trichinosis.

The worst epidemic of trichinosis ever known was caused by a butcher of Hederleben, Saxony, making sausage of an infected pig. The sausages were eaten at a public banquet, 300 people fell ill and 130 died.

Prescribed by physicians for fifteen years

Why, Martha, if you are so nervous, now, what will you be at my age?

"Thirty-nine, I suppose," meekly replied the little sister.

Pat had gone back home to Ireland and was telling about New York.

"Have they such tall buildings in America as they say, Pat?" asked the parish priest.

"Tall buildings, ye ask, sur?" replied Pat. "Faith, sur, the last one I worked on we had to lay on our stomachs to let the moon pass."

During a financial panic, according to a contemporary, a German farmer went to a bank for some money. He was told that the bank was not having out money, but was using cashiers' checks. He could not understand this, and insisted on money.

The officers took him in hand, one after another, with little effect. At last the president tried his hand and after long and minute explanation some inkling of the situation seemed to be dawning on the farmer's mind. Much encouraged, the president said: "You understand now how it is, don't you, Mr. Schmidt?"

WOMAN ON THE BATTLE-FIELD.

What she gives to a nation.

Shall we say that women contribute only the bandages, the nursing, cheering and comforting the wounded? No! They contribute the fighters! What sort of help and inspiration can a woman be who is enfeebled and broken-down by diseases and weaknesses peculiar to her sex. Can she hope to be a capable mother or an efficient wife?

The mighty restorative power of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription specifically causes all womanly troubles to disappear—compels the organs to properly perform their natural functions, corrects displacements, overcomes irregularities, removes pain and misery at certain times and brings back health and strength to nervous, irritable and exhausted women.

MODERN CHRISTIANS LACK IN PENITENCE

SPIRIT OF REPENTANCE NOT PREVALENT ENOUGH, SAYS
THE REV. PARSONS.

NEED SELF-INSPECTION

Use Ten Commandments, the Beatitudes and Christ's Example as Standards for Measuring Our Lives.

"Repentance" was the subject of the sermon preached by the Rev. Parson, at the church of the Holy Trinity, Sunday, Dec. 6. The sermon was a timely one, in view of the fact that the church is now in the midst of the Christmas season, and the people are called upon to give thanks for the gifts of God, and to seek forgiveness for their sins. The Rev. Parson said that the spirit of repentance is not prevalent enough in the hearts of modern Christians, and that they need to measure their lives by the standards of the Ten Commandments, the Beatitudes, and the example of Christ.

The Rev. Parson said that the Ten Commandments are the foundation of the Christian life, and that they should be the standard by which we measure our lives. He said that the Beatitudes are the path to happiness, and that they should be the standard by which we measure our lives. He said that the example of Christ is the perfect example, and that we should strive to imitate him in all things.

year thousands of men flock to the harvest fields from the cities and under the hardships because of their inability to get work promptly, while in other districts farmers are suffering from a shortage of help.

Representatives of the railroads, the state labor commission and the farmers will be asked to suggest a plan to remedy this trouble. The commission probably will then suggest the appointment of a committee to work out a system of distribution of farm labor.
